

Program Information

Program Name	University of Massachusetts, Boston, Department of Anthropology
General Description / Special Programs	Primary department interests in colonialism, indigeneity, African Diaspora, urbanism, globalization, environmental anthropology, immigration, identity, and critical heritage. Core geographical focus is the Americas, with additional specialties in Africa, the Pacific, Iceland, China, and Southeast Asia. Summer archaeological fieldwork opportunities in New England, the American Southwest, Belize, and Iceland. MA program in Historical Archaeology draws on Department and Fiske Center personnel to focus on historical development of the Americas and the North Atlantic, focusing on the interactions among colonists, indigenous people, African Diasporic peoples, immigrants, and their physical environments, material lives, and identities. Strong placement record of MA graduates in employment and PhD programs.
