

University of Alaska, Fairbanks, Department of Anthropology

Program Information

Program Name	University of Alaska, Fairbanks, Department of Anthropology
General Description / Special Programs	The Department of Anthropology at UAF is the only anthropology program in the United States that maintains a holistic approach to circumpolar studies, providing instruction and research in all aspects of northern anthropology, with an emphasis on the Circumpolar North, but also including other regions (Africa, Latin America, Japan, South Asia). We publish an internationally recognized, refereed journal, the Anthropological Papers of the University of Alaska. We have more than 75 undergraduate majors and 50 graduate students, and serve over 900 students per year. The department offers approximately 40 courses each year.
